Thematic Meeting 3:

“Recognizing the contributions of women migrants to economic and social development in countries of origin and destination and addressing their specific needs”

Split families, children left behind

Geneva: 8 September 2015
Salle II, R3 Level, ILO Building
Women Migrants in the SDGs

Issues

Migrations & Development

The SDGs recognize that protecting migrant women’s rights will enhance their potential to become drivers of sustainable development.

Challenges

Migrant women often face discrimination and special attention should be paid to their particular challenges. Women may feel more pressured to send money back home and therefore more willing to take risks and enter the informal sector.

Vulnerabilities

By doing so, migrant women are often more vulnerable to exploitation, modern forms of slavery, and other forms of gender-based violence.

Relevant SDG Targets

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>SDG Target</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>8.8</td>
<td>Protect migrant worker’s rights, especially women migrants</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10.2</td>
<td>Economic and political inclusion</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.3</td>
<td>Access to vocational training and affordable education</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8.5</td>
<td>Decent work for all</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.4</td>
<td>Relevant skills for employment and entrepreneurship</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.2</td>
<td>Eliminate violence against women</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8.7</td>
<td>End modern day slavery</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10.7</td>
<td>Well managed migration policies</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.5</td>
<td>Opportunities for leadership at all level of decision-making</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.6</td>
<td>Policies for promotion of gender equality</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.4</td>
<td>Social protection policies for domestic workers</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Facts

- Studies have shown that migrant women remit a higher proportion of their salary than migrant men.
- Studies indicate that women remit as much as men in absolute numbers.
- Remittances sent by women go more often towards education, health, and community development.
- An increasing proportion of women are labour migrants.
- Migrant women are disproportionately unemployed compared to migrant men or native women.
- In high-income countries, more migrant women face deskilling challenges compared to migrant men.
- A reduced family network often results in an increased double-burden for women in terms of reproductive and productive roles.
- It is estimated that 98% of trafficking victims for sexual exploitation are women.
- There are an estimated 4.5 million victims of sexual exploitation worldwide.
- The majority of victims of forced labour are women.
- Data on the political and economic empowerment of migrant women are scarce.
- Disaggregation of data by both gender and migration status is lacking and would be a powerful tool for policy development.
- As of September 2016, 22 countries have ratified the ILO Domestic Workers Convention.

---
*As mentioned in Rio-20 outcome document par. 43 and par. 238.
*Facts on remittances stem from UN-Women's background paper for the 2015 GFMD third thematic meeting on migrant women.
*All facts on deskilling and labour migration stem from IOM’s publication “Crushed hopes: Underemployment and deskilling among skilled migrant women” (2012).
*All facts about trafficking stem from ILO’s publication “ILO global estimate of forced labour 2012: results and methodology” (2012).
Policy recommendations

• Receiving countries to favor family reunification

• Appointment of legal guardian as matter pf priority

• Develop specific community services

• Provide targeted training to psychologists, social workers etc.

• Supporting remittances but address adverse consequences

• Diaspora engagement to facilitate communication