Its purpose includes exchanging information and experiences on topics such as: regular and irregular migration, asylum, visa, border management, trafficking in human beings an smuggling of migrants, readmission and return. In 1997 a third Ministerial Conference in Prague adopted a set of 55 recommendations relating to legal harmonisation, approximation of pre-entrand entry controls, readmission agreements and return to countries of origin, information exchange, financial and technical assistance and the fight agains organised crime. In Rhodes, in June 2003, the fourth Ministerial Conference adopted 31 new recommendations, which reflected a shift towards a more comprehensive approach in promoting migration co-operation between countries of origin, transit and destination emphasizing the CIS countries (Commonwealth of Independent States), as well as linkages to migration processes in other parts | comprehensive overview of the migration system shifted the geographical focus to this region. The project successfully identified the key migration challenges facing these countries and all twelve States (Armenia, Azerbaijan, Belarus, Georgia, Kazakhstan, Kyrgystan, Moldova, Russia, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, Ukraine and Uzbekistan) are involved in the consultative framework of the Process. Since Turkey took over the Chairmanship in 2006, the emphasis has been on continuity and bringing in broadened ideas with regard to the areas examined. These include, in addition to the traditional areas of interest for the Budapest Process (return and readmission, border management and asylum), an |
